

Terry Smirl Sextet

Song List

The Terry Smirl Sextet consists of trumpet, saxophone, trombone, piano (or guitar), bass, and drums. Our performances typically include songs taken from the following two lists. The songs on the first list are popular “standards” – Big Band Era favorites as well as Broadway tunes and other songs composed during the “Golden Age” of American popular song – that are perfect for dancing and casual listening, so they’re very appropriate for receptions, private parties, corporate events, etc. Many of the arrangements also work beautifully in concert settings.

The second list contains titles of more esoteric jazz compositions that are most appropriate for jazz-specific venues: jazz clubs, festivals, concert halls, etc. We generally do not play tunes from the second list at receptions, corporate events, etc. unless requested to do so.

We’re continually adding to both lists, and we welcome requests from you. If there is a song you’d like us to play at your event that is not on this list, we’ll do our best to obtain it or write a custom arrangement of it for you. Please make such requests at least 1 month in advance.
